Karan Johar, who has recently been talking about his desire to become a parent, is now a proud father to a pair of twins, through the process of surrogacy.

In his recently released autobiography, The Unsuitable Boy, he had written that he wanted to adopt a child or have a surrogate child.

According to a report, the babies were born at Masrani Hospital in Andheri, Mumbai, in February. Civic officials said the births were registered with the public health department on Friday, March 3.

Karan Johar's close friends, Shah Rukh and Gauri Khan, had their third child, AbRam, through surrogacy.

Aamir Khan and his wife, Kiran Rao, also had their son, Azad, through surrogacy.

Tusshar Kapoor too fathered a baby boy, Lakshya, in June last year through surrogacy.

Karan Johar tweeted his official statement. Read on.

Guess who India's real cricketing star is!

"I am ecstatic to share with you all the two most wonderful additions to my life, my children and lifelines; Roohi and Yash. I feel enormously blessed to be a parent to these pieces of my heart who were welcomed into this world with the help of the marvels of medical science.

This was an emotional yet well thought out decision which I have taken after considering all the responsibilities and duties that come with being a parent. In order to arrive at this decision, I have prepared myself mentally, physically, emotionally and logistically to ensure that my children get all the unconditional love, care and attention from me and mine. I have submitted to the fact that my children are my world and priority. My work, travels and social commitments would have to take a back seat and I am prepared for that. By the grace of God, I have the most caring and supportive mother who will be an integral part in the up-bringing of her grandchildren and of course, friends who are family.

I am eternally grateful to the surrogate who has fulfilled my lifelong dream and provided a warm, loving and nurturing environment to my children before bringing them into this world. She will always remain in my prayers.

Finally, a big thank you to Dr. Jatin Shah for his guidance and support and for being like a family member through this wonderful and exciting journey.
