MUMBAI: Bollywood filmmaker Karan Johar has become the single parent of twins — a girl and a boy— born through surrogacy last month.

The director-producer wasn't in the city to confirm the news, but civic officials said the births were registered with its public health department on Friday.

"The birth registrations were done on Friday," BMC executive health officer Dr Padmaja Keskar said. TOI confirmed this from the central government website for birth and death registrations. The twins were born at Masrani Hospital in Andheri (West) on February 7. However, Johar hasn't yet informed the BMC about the names of his children. A high-ranking BMC official said the children were registered in their birth record as a "baby girl" and "baby boy". Johar's close friend actor Shah Rukh Khan 's third baby, AbRam, too, was born in the same hospital to a surrogate mother.

Also Read: Shah Rukh Khan, Alia Bhatt, Priyanka Chopra congratulate Karan Johar on becoming a father

Civic officials said the birth registration details listed Johar as the children's father, but there is no mention of the mother's name.

The BMC has taken the declaration of Dr Masrani and his infertility clinic about the birth.

In June 2016, actor Tusshar Kapoor had announced the birth of his son, Lakshya, through in-vitro fertilisation and surrogacy.

However, this prompted the Centre to frame guidelines for the surrogacy segment of infertility treatment. The draft bill bans commercial surrogacy, prohibiting any payment for women taking up surrogacy. It also bans surrogacy for singles, foreigners and persons of Indian origin. Union health minister J P Nadda introduced the Surrogacy (Regulation) Bill in the Lok Sabha in November 2016.

In January, the Rajya Sabha chairman referred the bill to the Parliamentary Standing Committee on health and asked it to submit its report within three months.

In his recently released autobiography, 'An Unsuitable Boy', Karan Johar had expressed a desire to adopt a child or have a surrogate child as his old-age insurance policy.

"I don't know what I'm going to do about it but I feel like I would like to be a parent. I don't know how it's going to happen but I do feel the need because I have plenty of love to offer and I'd like to take it forward. This feeling needs a release and requires a platform. And that platform could be by being a parent," he had said during the release of his book. In June 2013, Shah Rukh Khan's third child was born with the help of a surrogate mother at the same hospital.

We live in a society and to keep bounds in society we must follow cultural obligation. We are not free to select our own choice we are bounded by society norms. Can we move naked on street, by saying it is my choice?

He has lots of money. An orphan could have got a shelter and good upbringing, if he adopted. Sushmita Sen and Raveena Tandon have set great examples. And kids need both parents, not only father.

Yeah why not? Perhaps we need to learn to be less selfish. We must remember that we live in an extremely overpopulated country. It's akin to a crime to bring a child into this world through surrogacy when millions of homeless orphans are looking for a family. Laws should be introduced to ban surrogacy and encourage adoption.

I would have adopted three/ four if I was as rich as these filmi people. ADev Sharma has said nothing wrong. But adoption laws in India is very useless. Its very difficult for couples to adopt kids legally.

Yea, right!!! Easy to say and give advice. Just because someone has lots of money doesn't mean he has to spent it the way OTHERS want him to. His money□□, he has the right how to use it. He maybe even doing charity work which we don't know about. Wrong to judge others. Even those who have less money can contribute whatever they can to some charitable cause. 🙏

You are a very large hearted person, that's all I can say. With less money, you cannot afford to adopt a child and give the kid good upbringing. This is discussion about adoption and not other charitable cause. Two different issues.

Not orphanage but have bought small small products sold by blind school folks, given clothes to orphanages, old age homes from time to time and adopted stray dogs, got them sterilized and arranged for their treatment when needed. I do not need God's blessings. My karma will take care of me.

What you are doing is good. Keep it up but Does that give you the right to point fingers at others or judge them? BTW, How karma will take care of you? Karma is not a person or thing. Some superior power has to bless you for your karma for karma means action, work or deed. All the best.

Noble thought. But do you know how tough it is to adopt in India? That is one of the reason why child theft is on rise.

Absolutely agree- there are so many orphans in India and it makes sense to adopt one of them rather than bring more humans on this already over crowded earth

That is not what I meant but where hetrosexual couples want to have more than one child, they can think about adopting some in the society as well. This comment specifically was geared towards KJ who went thru surrogacy

Who are you to decide the terms of his life?

The news article itself is invading into someone's privacy and on top of it, you give a suggestion that treats children as commodities..

What information is present in it? Did the article bring any information which is useful to general public? Is the process followed by KJ is apt and according to rules? What way this will help the future social situation with rich taking a different path for next gen? What will be the impact on the kids when they grow up? I see that as media, otherwise it is just data without any valid thoughts into it.

So, newspaper is nothing but a social media website. Publish what you know without any use!! What this means to journalism? Yes, if an authorised and authentic media is publishing an article it should be looking at a particular way - biased or not is different debate. There is a bill presented in parliament to cut these kind of process of having babies.

Is there any newspaper in the world whose ALL the news published is useful. A newspaper is a serial publication containing news about current events, other informative articles about politics, sports, arts, entertainment and so on, and advertising. You are angry because this newspaper published this article or because you oppose surrogacy? Till the bill is not passed it's legal. Surrogate mother is making money and the other party is happy with the baby. If the bill is passes people can always ... Read More

I hope you don't have your own kids or don't have your own kids in future and instead adopt or you'll be the biggest hypocrite.

He could have adopted, yes, but it is very time consuming and not an easy process. May have taken another 5 to 7 years and maybe he feels he doesn't have that kind of time as he is already 40. So let's stop being judgmental and live and let live.

Are you denying him the pleasure of the "process" of donating his sp---m ?! More seriously, these poor kids are going to grow up without the love of their biological mother - so in this case adoption of an already unfortunate child would have been preferable.

Having a child is such a personal experience ... and each of us have a right to determine how we want to experience becoming a parent... Don't you agree? Also have u adopted any child till now? If yes .. god bless u and hve u more abundance so that u can spread more joy to this world. If no.. maybe u should .. since u feel so strongly about adoption. God Bless you always (and yes I am running an ashram for orphans and old aged humans in need)

Considering the fact that our actions have consequences and the child we choose to bring into this overcrowded world is going to compete for the limited resources we have left, we can no longer afford to hide behind lame excuses. We have the freedom to reproduce like rabbits but let's be sensible and not abuse that right when there are better options like adopting.

Absolutely agree... and there should be a more mature and universal approach for not just one human ... but collectively all of us need to understand and do that. No point in raising a ruksus of one individual's choice.. specially something like this that is so personal ... sometimes its easy to say how others should be ... how this world should be... no more lame excuses like u said... change starts with the self - with u .. with me... i am grateful that i am contributing in a small way by adopting ... If you or Govt force people not to have surrogate child in order to adopt a poor kid - then that does not sound right.

yes, agree. But think about the new probabilities. The businesses, it generates. Surrogate mother, who is definitely, from a poor fly, hospitals, doctors & the maids & nurses, where money will be spent. when celebrities, goes for these routes, an ordinary man will surely think why not go for superior genes - intellectual & personality. Just imagine the whole generation of one state going for Scandavian or European blood. Designer babies are the future. Worth thinking.

You have a point. Going by the gene theory, chances of the kids following dad can't be dismissed. But again it may be fashion and norm of tomorrow.

You comment is immature ! Journalism isn't just writing about lofty things and reporting about politics or reporting items which has to help someone in some way. News for some may not be news for you, which is fine.
